

春藤教育-英文阅读写作

1st and 2nd Grade

In this course, students will enhance reading skills by learning on the reading strategies of inference, retelling, visualizing, characters, prediction, connections, problem/solution, cause/effect, author's purpose and setting. As students build writing skills, they will work on writing basics such as forming simple and compound sentences. Also, they will use figurative language, metaphors, personification, and opinion writing. Students will build high frequency word recognition and use it to strengthen their reading and writing. They will review, revise, and edit their original writing pieces using a self-evaluation rubric.

3rd-5th Grade

In this course, students will work on three key areas of ELA: reading, writing and grammar. For the reading portion of this course, students will study a variety of literary styles including poetry, prose, drama, narrative, and informational texts. They will dissect these types of literature by looking at themes, patterns of events, cause/effect, problem/solution, point of view, context clues, inferences, and figurative language. For the writing portion of the course, students will write their own opinion writing, narrative, and informative pieces. Finally, in grammar, students will on the skills of relative pronouns, relative adverbs, progressive verb tenses, punctuation, affixes/roots/suffixes, adjectives, prepositional phrases, fragments/run-ons, and conjunctions.
